

Types of Cards (2)

Please choose the most appropriate answer for each sentence.

Q1 Nowadays, people use ..... cards or sticks in their digital cameras to store photographs.

- A social                      B place                      C note                      D memory

Q2 In order to legally work in the United States, all citizens and permanent residents must obtain a valid social ..... card.

- A registry                      B magnetic                      C business                      D security

Q3 When someone wants to request your presence at a function or special occasion like a wedding, he/she might send you a formal ..... card.

- A alien                      B invitation                      C e-card                      D Valentine's day

Q4 Formal invites are often accompanied by reply or ..... cards. This acronym stands for 'Please reply' in French.

- A RIP                      B RSVP                      C BFF                      D REM

Q5 Many company owners and employees carry and give out their ..... cards to people who are interested in their products and services. These cards usually contain the name, address and phone number of the company or corporation.

- A electronic                      B get well                      C business                      D alien

Q6 When someone wants to express their gratitude for a gift or service he/she received, he/she can send out a ..... card to show appreciation.

- A birth                      B memory                      C thank-you                      D place

Q7 If your friend is ill, you can send him/her a ..... card to express your wishes for a healthy recovery.

- A poker                      B get-well                      C thank-you                      D anniversary

Q8 Nowadays, instead of sending actual cards through the regular mail system, people can send ....., via the Internet and in the form of an email, in order to express their thoughts and wishes to loved ones.

- A memory cards                      B e-cards                      C place cards                      D electric cards

Q9 In North America, on February 14th, people who are enamored with each other often send ..... cards to one another. This day is a very romantic occasion that couples spend together.

- A graduation day                      B get-well                      C Tarot                      D Valentine's day

Q10 At formal functions, ..... or name cards are often set out on a table in front of a place setting in order to inform guests about their sitting arrangements.

- A place                      B supper                      C game                      D playing

ANSWERS: Types of Cards (2)

Q1 Nowadays, people use ..... cards or sticks in their digital cameras to store photographs.

D memory

Q2 In order to legally work in the United States, all citizens and permanent residents must obtain a valid social ..... card.

D security

Q3 When someone wants to request your presence at a function or special occasion like a wedding, he/she might send you a formal ..... card.

B invitation

Q4 Formal invites are often accompanied by reply or ..... cards. This acronym stands for 'Please reply' in French.

B RSVP

Q5 Many company owners and employees carry and give out their ..... cards to people who are interested in their products and services. These cards usually contain the name, address and phone number of the company or corporation.

C business

Q6 When someone wants to express their gratitude for a gift or service he/she received, he/she can send out a ..... card to show appreciation.

C thank-you

Q7 If your friend is ill, you can send him/her a ..... card to express your wishes for a healthy recovery.

B get-well

Q8 Nowadays, instead of sending actual cards through the regular mail system, people can send ....., via the Internet and in the form of an email, in order to express their thoughts and wishes to loved ones.

B e-cards

Q9 In North America, on February 14th, people who are enamored with each other often send ..... cards to one another. This day is a very romantic occasion that couples spend together.

D Valentine's day

Q10 At formal functions, ..... or name cards are often set out on a table in front of a place setting in order to inform guests about their sitting arrangements.

A place